DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. No new amendments to the claims have been entered in the above-identified application. Claims 1-13 and 15-30 are pending.

Terminal Disclaimer

2. The terminal disclaimer filed on May 3, 2006 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of US. Patent No. 6,813,153 B2 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by De Sorgo (EP 0790762 A2).

De Sorgo discloses a thermally conductive interface material that may be employed between an electrical component and a heat sink and comprises one or more thermally conductive particulate fillers dispersed in a polymer binder (corresponding to the polymer matrix material of the claimed invention). Typical binders include silicones, thermoplastic rubbers, urethanes and other elastomers and typical fillers include aluminum oxide, magnesium oxide, boron nitride and aluminum nitride (corresponding to the fusible metal solder particles of the claimed invention given that a solder is simply defined as a metal or metallic alloy used to join materials) provided in particle sizes ranging from 1 to 50 microns (Page 2, lines 27-38). Other fillers and additives may be included to the extent that the thermal conductivity and other physical properties are not compromised (Page 5, lines 18-20). All limitations of claim 28 are disclosed in the above reference.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-13 and 15-27 are allowed.

Claims 29 and 30 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
